

A stroke of class!

SANGEETHA RAJEESH

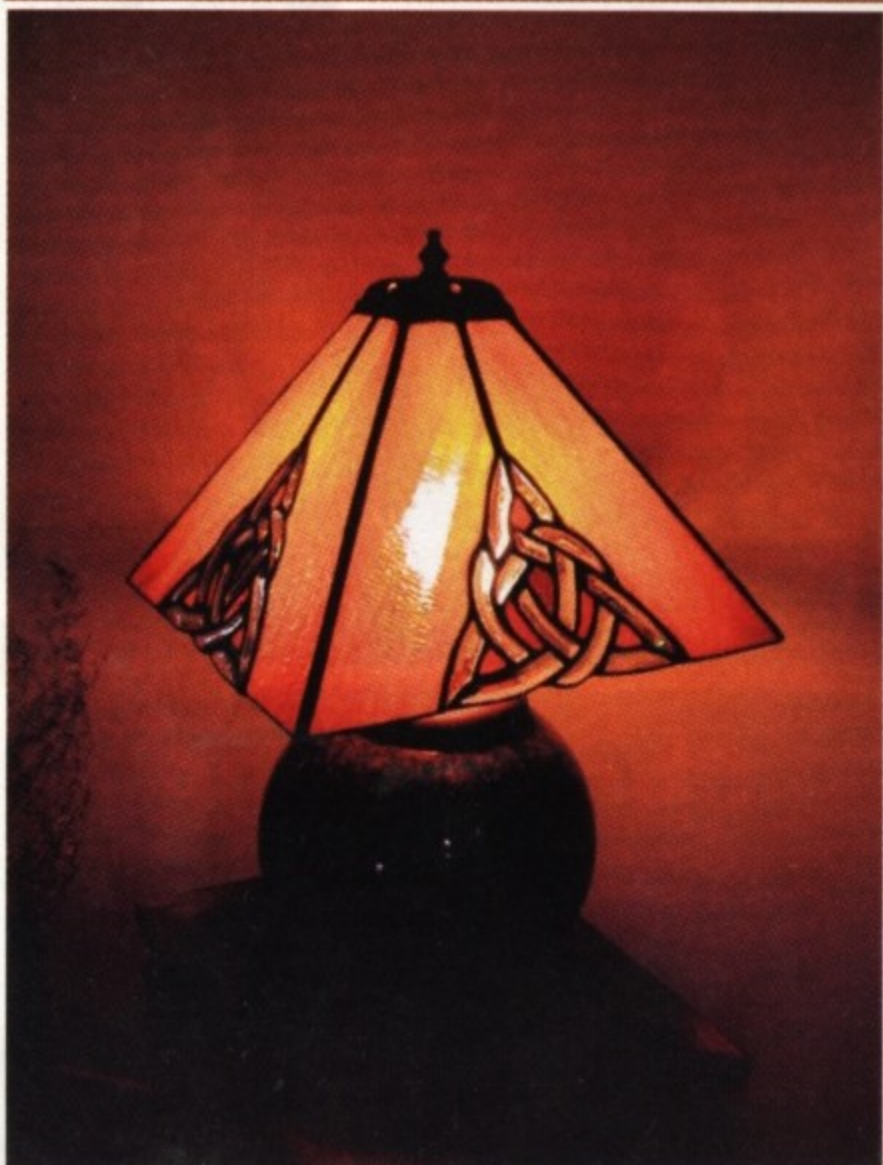

"Inspiration comes to me in flashes from every aspect in my life" - confesses Anjali Venkat.

"Experiment and create many pieces before an inspiration translates into one of my creative lines," smiles the glass artist, "I am always thinking of ideas to beautify and accessorise the home as well as create individual specific trinkets." Her creative thinking cap on most of the time, conjuring something that catches the eye, imagining what would make a drab corner of a room interesting, Anjali chuckles, "The process never ends."

Anjali Design, her glass studio recently inaugurated at Besant Nagar, Kalakshetra Colony, is a perfect reflection of superb colours on glass. A wide range of elite handcrafted accessories would just be the answer for your home or for you. From creative works of art to eye-catching and innovative jewellery for any occasion, one can find a feast of items in myriad themes and designs. "Even if there is one you don't see, I can create one just for you," declares the vibrant Anjali.

Glass Touch

Specialising in stained glasswork for interiors and the ethnic art form of Tanjore painting, her creations fuse the traditional with contemporary, to produce irresistible classic lamps, wall art and accessories like boxes, trays, candle shelters, sun-catchers, photo frames and many other decorative items to make any corner of your home out of the ordinary. Her main focus is on glass on which she cuts, grinds, solders, fuses, bends and slumps art glass to make interesting one-of-its-kind pieces. Jewellery is yet another handiwork from the artist. Her fashionable line of elegant accessories is a real fast seller with women of all ages and most of them are any occasion pieces. Anjali's creative pieces are in huge demand. "I have supplied bulk orders for return gifts at weddings, special occasions, festivals and the like." Happy to create custom-made pieces to suit her buyer's requirements, Anjali also conducts regular workshops and classes on stained glass.

Her insights have transformed into ingenious lines and the gallery is just a sampling to her many creative works. Anjali Venkat can be contacted at 98400 76492. To check out the studio visit www.anjalidesign.com
